INTRODUCTION.

THE business or the hobby of collecting books has now reached a stage at which a serious survey is become almost a necessity. The material on which the book collector depends for the exercise of his pastime varies, as every one knows, from time to time. What is the fashion at one period lies quite neglected at another. But at all times that material is first the product of the special business of the publisher. Now the latest developments of publishing methods are of such a nature as to make the book collector pause. What with the increase in magazine literature, the daily press, the sixpenny copyright novel, and the status of the fiction writer, it would seem as if book production in the present day is little likely to afford material for the future collector. This means that he will seek more and more eagerly for the works that have long been prized, or will take to cultivating abnormal tastes. In the first case his search will send up the values of such prizes and leave them to be acquired by the wealthiest class of buyers, while in the second, the collector will force himself to descend from a certain dignity of attitude, and emphasize the contempt of the Philistine who looks upon his pursuits as the outcome of mania. Fine paper, gracious margins, beautiful type, and the other features which go to make a book prized seem becoming rarer and rarer in the production of modern books by writers whose works are likely to be sought for. Moreover, such writers, even, are not common. The average of quality is far higher than it once was, and the literary craftsmen are but a few whom the collector may one day delight to honour. To the tacit recognition of this decline in the general forms of book production must be placed the desire for the acquisition of the "library," or "standard" editions of the historical works of Prescott, Motley, Froude, Symonds, and Gardiner. And to the same recognition may be attributed, in a measure, the attempt of publishers to serve the collector, by issuing "large paper" editions of works by writers who would not otherwise be collected even by the least fastidious of bibliophiles.

Without a doubt the collector it is who sets the seal of his approbation on the writer who shall be collected; so that no sooner is a Stevenson or a Kipling chosen, than the publisher begins to bethink himself of éditions de luxe. Immediately is the market flooded. What is good for such writers' works is, surely, think the publishers, good for other writers, and they begin by proclaiming the issues of fine editions of Fielding, Smollett, Whyte-Melville, Meredith, and the rest. What is the result? One needs but to look over the shelves of the booksellers' shops to answer this question. There these works stand, neglected by the true book collector, and out of reach of the man of slender purse. It is of no use to attempt to force a taste or foist a fashion. Other publishers in other times have lost fortunes by such attempts. It must never be forgotten that book collecting, apart from its few minor branches, is a natural growth of the higher forms of literary or artistic activity and the printer's craft; and no amount of artificial training will make it otherwise. The activity and the craft must be also earnest, sincere. The outcome of dilettantism may please and be accepted, but it will be only for a time. John Payne Collier, Egerton Brydges, Haslewood, Ashbee, Ritson, and others, managed to rouse a little enthusiasm, but that enthusiasm is become almost extinct now, and their editorial labours may be had for a fourth of what was once demanded for them. The same may be said for the more modern efforts. That William Morris succeeded is not to the point. His work was not dilettante; it was, on the contrary, quite original, and original in a unique degree. Hence the collector's homage.

What then does all this mean? It means that book collecting is becoming more and more a pastime for the very rich. Apart from the considerations already advanced, this result is being arrived at by the very demands of the collector himself. Fine condition, beautiful bindings, original states, are not common qualities of books that have been widely used and handled; and as what is uncommon is dear, it follows that only those who can afford the pastime can delight in its pleasures. To the poor man is left the hope of discovering a rare piece on some rare occasion in the hands of an ignorant tradesman, and he often lives his life buoyed by this hope, to find after many years that it was seldom realized. A good friend of mine, a genial Yorkshire medico, once bought the first edition of Walton's "Angler" for £5; he sold it this year for £170. It is true the copy lacked a leaf and a half; but the pleasure of that purchase must have brightened many a dark day. And so the poor man may follow meekly in the wake of his rich brother, and if he cannot have for the asking, he may, at any rate, enjoy a pleasure denied to his more fortunate confrère, in the possession of a hope that he may find by virtue of his own knowledge.

If we examine the present volume of a record of the Book Sales of the year we shall see that of the collections dispersed only in those which were begun many years ago do we find, in any large number, those items which are always dear to the collector's heart. The more modern collections (no doubt more highly paid for also) offer comparatively but little material for fruitful study. The libraries of R. W. Wilbraham, H. Sidney, and Lord Ashburnham are examples. The results of the sales of all three illustrate what has just been advanced. Here were included the books of bygone times, books that have been acknowledged worthy of acquiring, and the prices they realized have never before been reached. Why? Because the collector finding no field for his activity in books of the past decade or two, devotes himself more consistently to what he knows will maintain value, and to works which he is certain must become rarer and rarer as time goes on. Other collections show the mistake of following an ephemeral fashion: those of Sidney, Wilbraham, and Ashburnham are apart from any passing craze. They appeal to the ultimate passion of the book collector; happy is he who can indulge himself in it. The lessons these sales teach are writ large. If collecting must be pursued, then it behoves the collector to be also a shrewd man of business. If he can only indulge himself in passing fashions he must either be prepared to rest content with that enjoyment, or else he must watch his time and realize at once. In neither case should he cast blame on himself or his bookseller. It is for pleasure or profit. If for pleasure then he pays for it; if for profit he must remember that he has entered on a speculation. The pity of it is that book collecting should have appealed, as it undoubtedly has done, to the speculative temperament. What was once the gentle exercise of the amiable among the leisured in position, or of the quiet in mind, is forming a new pabulum for the retired man of business who cannot find rest for the speculative instincts he satisfied on the Stock Exchange and elsewhere. He pays his prices for the volumes of his library, not that he may have delight in reading or possessing, but simply and solely that he may realize at a profit. Of course, we all like to feel that for what we once paid £5 is now or may at some future time be worth £10—that is but natural. But it is not so with the man who first drives a hard bargain with his bookseller, then chuckles over the victory, and finally reflects complacently that he may obtain twice the sum when it is knocked down at the right time, after a judicious impetus, in the sale room. He is the collector-ghoul. He has no business in this galley. By nature, by habit, by his very obtrusive wealth, he should have no part in this gentle art. But he is come, and he is likely to stay, for he is the bookseller's most important customer.

Let these general considerations suffice, but let them not compel those good collectors who still carry on the traditions of their calling, to lose heart. There is a time and a place for such an one also; for he is the lineal descendant of the worthy man who found in books a quiet joy and an innocent recreation after the busy strife of the market-place or the daily labour. The fields are still many wherein he may hunt and come home with well-filled bags. As a collector he must commence as did the original collectors: he must buy what pleases him to read and re-read. But he must buy for that reading the best and choicest his purse can afford. Let him rather collect the "Temple Classics" than waste his time longing after the first folio of Shakespeare, or the first edition of Walton's "Angler." In every case let what he buys be the first edition. Of late years the works of Kipling and Stevenson have offered fair scope for his activity—they may still with advantage and ease employ his attention, if he care for their works. They are not yet so far advanced in the market but that they lend themselves, comparatively speaking, to easy acquisition. An examination of the tables I have drawn up of the progressing values of the first editions of these writers may prove of some instruction.

As I write, a sale of the rarer Stevensoniana has just taken place, in which prices were higher than ever. "Father Damien," for instance, brought £41; "The Pentland Rising," £9 10*s*.; "The Charity Bazaar," £8 10*s*. As for the Davos tracts, the sums paid for them were nothing less than extraordinary.

From these tables may be gathered two important facts. First, that the rarer items are becoming rarer and more highly prized, and secondly, that most of the works may still be had at easy rates. I would strongly advise their acquisition. Of Kipling's works, prose especially, would I urge this. Such books as the two "Jungle Books," and the illustrated volumes of "Soldiers' Tales," and "Captains Courageous," will certainly be sought for. As will also be the pamphlet on "A Fleet in Being." About Stevenson it is difficult to decide. The very rare Davos Platz pamphlets are certain to receive a special attention, if only for the unique circumstances which attended their publication; but I would hesitate to say that all his publications will ever become very dear.

In the introduction to my volume of Book Sales for 1895, I pointed out the advisability of collecting the issues from the Kelmscott Press. I reiterated this advice in the introduction to the volumes for 1896 and 1897. I now furnish a comparative table of prices for 1895, 1896, 1897, and 1898, which will repay careful study. I may add that the sums paid for these publications during the present year are far in excess even of those paid during 1898.

With books printed in limited editions great care must be exercised. As a rule they are the publishers' baits to catch the easy-going collector or to employ the attention of the richer bibliophile during the intervals between interesting book sales. Oftener than not they are a snare and a delusion. In weighing such publications the first test should be the value of their contents as literature, if they are works by modern writers. If they are new editions of old masters they had best be left alone altogether. The "remainder" market is at present full of such editions. The books that will be sought for among such are not the now old-fashioned ponderous tomes of handmade paper and paper labels, but the small-sized special issues on Japan vellum or genuine vellum. The modern collector is rare who can afford large rooms in great mansions. At present he is content to live in a "flat," and books to tempt him must find easy accommodation in his living room. It would be well if publishers bore this in mind. Modern illustrated books are of no great moment. Usually they lack the stamp of the artist's own hand, filled as they are by cheap photographic process reproductions. These also the collector may eschew. Lately there has been an attempt to force on the notice of collectors the illustrated books of the period known as "the sixties;" the attempt has failed, not because the books have not the merits they are said to possess, but simply because these merits do not appeal to the general body of collectors. It may be that at some future day they will receive better attention; but these also are often unwieldy volumes. Books from private presses require careful selection, and of these those issued from the Daniel Press are both charming and desirable. The elegant publications by Messrs. Hacon and Ricketts deserve more attention than they are at present receiving. Modern poetry, I am afraid, offers little temptation.

A good and useful subject of a fairly wide interest may often form a fruitful foundation for the collector's work. There are hundreds of such subjects, and good collections in them must always prove valuable, as well as a source of keen interest and pleasure.

Enough has been said to outline, at any rate, a fairly definite course of action. The collector will do well if, after having made up his mind, he persistently carries out his intention. Whatever it may amount to, it always bears the stamp of his own individuality, and that is perhaps the highest praise a collection can receive. Books are our companions; let the choice we make of them testify to ourselves, as readers, as thinkers, as men of taste, and, finally, as men of wisdom.

SALE OF THE LIBRARY OF THE LATE R. W. COLEMAN, ESQ.

Messrs. Sotheby and Co., July 8th and 9th, 1897.

¶ THIS library was originally collected by the Rev. G. W. Bethune, the well-known American editor of Walton's "Angler." The collection consisted almost entirely of books on angling or relating to Walton. The two days' sale, however, realized only £435 11*s.*, which suggested that the library was of no exceptional interest. Much of this amount was made up of sums paid for copies of the first and third editions of "The Angler" (neither of which were in striking condition); a manuscript by Robert Noble on the art of fishing; Taverner's "Certaine Experiments concerning Fish and Fruite" (1600); Venable's "Experienced Angler" (1662); and Waller's "Panegyrick to My Lord Protector" (1655).

Sale of the Library of W. E. Frere, Esq.

Messrs. Sotheby and Co., October 30th, 1897.

¶ The day's sale realized £566 18*s*. 6*d*. The books related chiefly to Spanish and Portuguese travels in America. A fairly good copy of Purchas's "Pilgrimes" (1625-26) was bought by Mr. Quaritch for £35. The first edition of the Spanish version of the Fables of Bidpai is a rare item, and not dear at £60. The De Bry "Collectiones" were poor copies from a collector's point of view, but the price, £17 5*s*., for the two sets, was by no means high.

104. Alfonso XI. Chronica del muy esclarescido Principe y Rey Don Alfonso el onzeno deste nombre de los Reyes que reynaron en Castilla y en Leon. Lit. Goth. Folio. Vellum. Valladolid, P. de Espinosa y Ant. de Zamora, 1551. Quaritch, £1

SALE OF THE LIBRARIES OF A. W. HILLIER, ESQ., AND JOHN OAKEY, ESQ.

Messrs. Sotheby and Co., November 1st and 2nd, 1897.

¶ THE two days' sale realized £881 12*s*. 6*d*. With the exception of extra illustrated copies of Boaden's "Memoirs of John Kemble," and Doran's "Their Majesties' Servants," this sale had no special features. Among Mr. Oakey's books, however, were a few good sporting works, and the books illustrated by Rowlandson, without which, it seems, no sportsman's library is supposed to be complete—such as Egan's "Real Life in London" (1824), Combe's "English Dance of Death," and "Dance of Life," and the rest.

Sale of the Library of Miss Prudentia Lonsdale.

Messrs. Sotheby and Co., November 5th and 6th, 1897.

¶ The two days' sale realized £813 15*s.* 6*d.* The sale also included some important books not the property of Miss Lonsdale; among these may be noted a copy of the original edition of Beaumarchais' "La Folle Journée"; the Fermiers-Généraux edition of La Fontaine, "Contes et Nouvelles"; Heywood's "Troia Britannica" (1609), and some others. Miss Lonsdale was the daughter of Shelley's biographer, Thomas Jefferson Hogg, and many of the books were presentation copies from the authors; so that the higher prices obtained for these must be put down to this fact. A copy sold of Franklin's reprint of Cicero's "Cato Major" did not bring as much as it has previously brought; but the prices on the whole were good.

Sale of an Amateur's Collection.

Messrs. Sotheby and Co., November 11th, 1897.

¶ A most peculiar collection. The books themselves were of fair interest and value; but the high prices they realized were for the handsome and remarkable imitations of old and choice bindings in which they were bound. Probably this sale makes a record in the average price per lot, since the hundred and odd lots brought in £1,907 16*s*. 6*d*. As a sale to guide the student in rare books and their prices this one is of no great assistance, but its record deserves a place in this volume if only as a contribution to the annals of bibliography.

Sale of a Gentleman's Library.

Messrs. Sotheby and Co., December 17th and 18th, 1897.

¶ The two days' sale realized £1,057 19*s.* 6*d.* As usual at auction rooms, the rarer works brought good prices and the commoner books poor prices. Those I give here are quite up to the average; in a few cases more than the average, because of their excellent condition. A good many of the rarer modern editions of French writers brought fair prices. A set of the original plates of Worlidge's "Gems," in two vols., printed on satin, fetched fifteen guineas. Almost all the choicer works were beautifully bound by Zaehnsdorf and others.

SALE OF A GENTLEMAN'S LIBRARY.

Messrs. Sotheby and Co., February 2nd, 1898.

¶ THE days' sale realized £659 9*s*. A very interesting collection, and included many rare works connected with early English literature. The Pynson edition (1493) of "The Canterbury Tales" was, of course, an imperfect copy, and it fetched some fifty pounds less than it did when offered for sale last year. Many of the books were beautifully bound by the best French and English binders, which also accounts for the good prices. On the whole the prices were of fair standard value.

Sale of the Library of A. C. Lamb, Esq. (Dundee).

Mr. Dowell (Edinburgh), March 7th, 8th, 9th, and 10th, 1898.

¶ This collection included a fine collection of Burnsiana, including a unique copy of the first Kilmarnock edition, which reached a record price. There were also uncut copies of the first Edinburgh and London editions of Burns's "Poems"; second, third, and fourth folios of Shakespeare; and some fine large paper copies of works by Bewick, Dibdin, Ruskin, and Tennyson. On the whole prices were good. I give also three or four books which brought very high prices because they belonged to Robert Burns.

1607. Ane Compendious Booke of Godly and Spiritual Sangs. Morocco, uncut. 8vo. Edinburgh, 1765. G. P. Johnston, £2 5s.

¶ Presentation Copy to John M'Murdo, Esq., Drumlanrig, from Robert Burns, the Poet.
"To John M'Murdo, Esquire, Drumlanrig.—Will Mr. M'Murdo do me the favor to accept of these volumes; a trifling but sincere mark of the very high respect I bear for his worth as a man, his manners as a gentleman, and his kindness as a friend. However inferior now, or afterwards, I may rank as a Poet; one honest virtue, to which few Poets can pretend, I trust I shall ever claim as mine:—to no man, whatever his station in life, or his power to serve me, have I ever paid a compliment at the expense of truth."—The Author.

1623. Burns (R.). A TREATISE ON PLOUGHS AND WHEEL CARRIAGES, by Jas. Small, Plough and Cartwright, formerly of Blackadder Mount, now at Rosebank, near Foord, Midlothian. Plates. 8vo. Calf. Edinburgh, printed for the Author, 1784. Pearson, £30
¶ This copy belonged to R. Burns, and contains his autograph on title-page. Allan Cunningham in 1834 writes thus—"His (Burns's) copy of Small's Treatise on Ploughs is now before me. Not one remark appears on the margins, but on the title-page is written, 'Robt. Burns, Poet'." Inserted is a holograph letter by Burns—"Mr. Scott—Give the gentleman who delivers you this, Mr. Richmond, my Small on Ploughs—Robt. Burns, Saturday Morn."

Sale of the Library of Maurice Johnson, Esq.

Messrs. Sotheby and Co., March 21st, 22nd, 23rd, 24th, 25th, and 26th, 1898.

¶ The week's sale realized £7,360 14*s.* 6*d.* The collection included also a selection from the library of a baronet, and formed one of the most interesting sales of the year. The early herbals and books on gardening deserve special study; but, indeed, all the items recorded will well repay careful attention. The manuscripts and autograph letters I have not included.

1673. Adams (Francis). Writing Tables, with a Kalendar for XXIIII. Yeeres, with sundry necessary Rules. Black letter. Cuts. Rare in any condition. Contemporary calf. Oblong 16mo. "Made in London by Francis Adams, Stationer and Bookbinder dwelling in Distaffe Lane," 1594. Leighton, £3 15*s.*
¶ Wants a leaf, and some edges of other leaves frayed.

1675. Ainsworth (W. H.). Guy Fawkes. First edition. Illustrations by G. Cruikshank. 3 vols. Uncut. 8vo. R. Bentley, 1841. Maggs, £6 5*s.*

1676. À Kempis (Thomas). Soliloquium Animæ. Editio princeps. Gothic letter. 38 leaves. Morocco extra. Folio. Sine ulla nota (sed Ultrajecti, N. Ketelaer et G. de Leempt, circa 1473). Quaritch, £16
¶ An extremely scarce work, usually ascribed to Thomas à Kempis, from the press of the first Utrecht printers, executed in the type attributed to Laurence Coster, the Haarlem printer. Not known to Hain or Brunet; but is described by Maitland in his "Early Printed Books" as one of the rarest and most curious of A Kempis's works.

1677. Albumazar. Incipit Tractatus Albumasaris florum Astrologie. Woodcuts. 4to. Augsbourg, Ratdolt, 1488. Pickering, £4 6*s.*

1678. Albumasar. Introductorium in Astronomia Albumasaris abelachi octo continens libros partiales. Lit. Goth. Woodcuts. Calf extra. 4to. August. Vind., E. Ratdolt, 1489. Edwards, £3 16*s.*

1679. Alken (H.). Illustrations for Landscape Scenery. 22 coloured plates. Roxburghe. 4to. 1821. Roche, £3 10*s.*

1680. America. Massachusetts Bay. [Begins] At the Court at Whitehall the 20th of July, 1683. Proceedings in Council relating to the issuing of a writ of Quo Warranto against the Charter of Massachusetts Bay and the Declaration of King Charles II. in respect thereto. It was ordered that Mr. Edward Randolph be sent to New England with the notification of the Writ and with two hundred copies of the King's Declaration to be there dispersed by him. Following is the text of the King's Declaration promising that, if due submission were made, private interests would be protected and the Charter only slightly regulated. 4 pages. Folio. Assigns of John Bill and Henry Hill and Thomas Newcomb. 1683. Ellis, £7

1681. American Revolution. Recueil d'estampes représentants les différents évènemens de la Guerre qui a procuré l'Indépendance aux Etats unis de l'Amérique. Red morocco. Folio. Paris (1780). Redford, £6 2*s.* 6*d.*
¶ Published by order of Louis XVI. This volume, one of the rarest publications dealing with the Revolution, is illustrated with 12 engravings by Marillier, Le Barbier, Ponce and others. This copy is printed on large paper, with the plates in proof state.

1682. America. Mercurio Peruano de historia, literatura, y noticias publicas que da a luz la Sociedad Academica de amantes de Lima. Y en su nombre D. Jacinto Calero y Moreira. Complete set of 12 vols. Map, plates, and folding tables. Old half calf. 4to. Lima, 1791-95. E. G. Allen, £7
¶ This copy is slightly defective.

1683. Angas (G. F.). The New Zealanders Illustrated. 60 coloured plates. Half morocco. Folio. McLean, 1847. Quaritch. £13

1684. Arbolayre cõtenāt la qualitey et virtus proprietez des herbes arbres gômes et semẽces extraite de pluseurs tratiers de medicine coment dauicẽne de rasis de constãtin de ysaac et plateaire selon le cõnu usaige bien correct. Lit. Goth. 2 columns, 39 lines. Numerous woodcuts (including the full-page one of the "Botanists in Council"). Red morocco. Small folio. Sans lieu ni date. (Lyons, M. Husz, circa 1485?) Robson, £86
¶ Of great rarity, the only other copy known being that in the Bibliothèque Nationale at Paris. Brunet calls it "ce volume précieux" and especially mentions the fine wood engraving at the back of the title. It is a translation of the German Herbal printed at Basle, and was certainly printed at Lyons, probably by M. Husz. This copy is slightly defective.

1685. Archaica and Heliconia, edited by Park, Brydges and Haslewood. 5 vols. Calf extra. 4to. 1814-15. Young, £3 4*s*.
¶ Only 250 copies printed at Longman's private press.

1686. Aristotle. Le livre de politiques et yconomiques d'aristote. Gothic letter (wants 2 leaves and end of table). Half bound. Folio. Paris, A. Verard, 1489. Leighton, £8 10*s*.
¶ This rare edition of the translation of Aristotle by Nicolas Oresme is one of the first publications of Verard.

1687. Aristotle. Opera Græce.—Theophrasti de Historia Plantarum, Lib. X. et de Causis Plantarum Lib. VI. Editio princeps. 5 vols. in 4 (contains the 7 unnumbered ll. sometimes wanting). Half morocco. Folio. Venet., Aldus Manutius, 1495-98. Sotheran, £8 15*s*.

1688. Arthur (King). The Story of Kynge Arthur, and also of his Knyghtes of the Round Table. Black letter. Woodcuts (wants title and 13 following ll. and 2 ll. at end). Old calf. Folio. W. Copland, 1557. Leighton, £10 15*s*.

1689. Arthur (King). History of the Renowned Prince Arthur, King of Britaine, with the Deeds of his Valiant Knights of the Round Table. Black letter, with the 3 woodcut frontispieces. 3 vols. in 1 (sig. T 1, in Part I. missing). Contemporary calf. 4to. 1634. Pearson, £11 10*s*.
¶ A copy sold in February, 1897, for £8 15*s*.

1690. Arthur, of Little Britaine, translated from the French by Lord Berners. New edition, by E. V. Utterson, with the series of 25 illuminated plates (only 200 copies printed). Russia. 4to. White and Co., 1814. Edwards, £3 10*s*.

1691. Athon. Constitutiones legitime seu legatine regionis Anglicane; cũ subtilissima interpretatione dñi Joannis de Athon; necnon et Constitutiones Provinciales ab Archiepiscopis Cantuariensibus editi, etc. Lit. Goth. Old calf. Folio. Paris., W. Hopylius, 1504. Tregaskis, £4 18*s*.
¶ Has two titles, with woodcuts.

1692. Atkyns (Sir R.). Gloucestershire. Large paper. Map and folding plates. Russia. Folio. 1768. Tregaskis, £7

1693. Augustinus (S.). De Arte predicandi. Half bound. Folio. Sine ulla nota, sed Argent. J. Mentelin, ante 1465. Leighton, £14 10*s*.
¶ Rare and valuable, as it enables us to identify the printer of the Virgil Terence and Valerius Maximus that are printed with the type used for the first two lines of folio 1. This information is disclosed by the editor's preface which states that he gave the manuscript to "discreto viro Johanni Mentelin incole Argētenēsi impressore artis māgro." Sir M. Sykes's copy sold for £28, and the later issue of the same book, with J. Fust's name substituted for that of Mentelin in the preface, for £42, in the Syston Park sale. (Note in Auctioneer's Catalogue.)

1694. Aulus Gellius. Noctes Atticæ. First Aldine edition. King Henry VIII.'s copy, bound by John Reynes in contemporary calf. In a brown morocco case. 4to. Venet., Aldus, 1515. Tregaskis, £10 5*s*.

Sale of the Library of H. Baillie Weaver, Esq.

Messrs. Christie, Manson, and Woods, March 29th, 30th, and 31st, 1898.

¶ Although sold under Mr. Weaver's name, the books at this sale came through a well-known bookseller of London. Most of them had already been offered for sale in that bookseller's catalogue, and a comparison between the prices asked and the prices realized would prove instructive to a collector. The volumes were in excellent condition, and most of them rare; and, although the prices they brought were not low, yet they by no means attained market values. The result of this sale causes one to ask, What is a market value? Perhaps there is no such thing, and a book is worth what can be obtained for it. At any rate, the special copies sold at this sale deserved a more generous attention. The three days' sale realized £5,523 3*s.* 6*d.*—a sum far below what the books must have originally cost their owner.

Sale of the Library of R. W. Wilbraham, Esq.

Messrs. Sotheby and Co., June 20th, 21st, and 22nd, 1898.

¶ A very important sale. Mr. Wilbraham was an ardent book-collector, and a member of the Roxburghe Club. His library was rich in examples from the old English presses and the rarer Americana. The result of the sale, which brought in the sum of £3,231 16*s.* 6*d.*, will well repay a careful study. In addition to early editions of the Voyages of Marco Polo, Mandeville, Laudonnière, Champlain, and others, there was a set of the first four folio editions of Shakespeare, and original editions of the Chronicles of Arnold, Caxton, Froissart, Fabyan, and the rest. The Arnold's Chronicle, first edition, is extremely rare. Of modern books the rarest is the first edition of Byron's "Waltz."

Sale of the Library of Henry Howard, Esq.

Messrs. Christie, Manson, and Woods, June 22nd and 23rd, 1898.

¶ The two days' sale realized £2,590 4*s.* 6*d.* The library is one most interesting to the collector of sporting books and the rare works published in the first half of the present century, with coloured illustrations by Alken, Rawlins, Rowlandson, Lane, Sneyd, and Cruikshank. The examples here noted were all in most excellent condition and beautifully bound. I have no doubt the prices are less than were originally paid for the works, but that is only to be expected. Apparently the bookseller who supplied Mr. Howard made strong efforts to buy back at something like the prices that gentleman must have paid for them. One notices the names of one or two of them oftener than is usual in other sales. In any case, however, the prices realized may be taken as good indications of true market values. So fine a collection of this particular class of books rarely occurs for sale.

The ordinary issue of these plates which appeared after 1780, although retaining the date of 1768, had a portrait of Worlidge as frontispiece to Vol. I. This does not appear in this set. There is, however, the scarce plate of Hercules strangling the Lion at the end of Vol. II.; also the head of Medusa, frontispiece to the same volume.

THE ASHBURNHAM LIBRARY.

SALE OF THE SECOND AND THIRD PORTIONS (G-Z) OF THE LIBRARY OF THE EARL OF ASHBURNHAM.

Messrs. Sotheby and Co., December 6th, 7th, 8th, 9th, 10th and 11th, 1897, and May 9th, 10th, 11th, 12th 13th and 14th, 1898.

¶ As with the first portion, the prices realized represents, as a total, a sum far in excess of any anticipated calculations. Most certainly, many of the "lots" brought in, at least, twenty per cent. more than the regular market values. The sale, of course, was a most interesting one, from many points of view. The fine collection of Bibles which were disposed of during the sale of the first portion are now supplemented by a remarkable series of Books of Hours and Missals, and other old Service books. Six examples from Caxton's press, including Gower's "Confessio Amantis," Higden's "Polychronicon," and the "Booke of the Life of Jason," were sold in last year's second instalment, while later on were offered for sale some fine early works on vellum: Jenson's "Pliny" of 1472 and 1476, Plutarch's "Morals" of 1526, the Salisbury Primer (1531), a "Roman de la Rose," a "Tewrdannckh," and the Valdarfer Psalter of 1477. Specially noteworthy were the fine series of the first five editions of Walton and Cotton's "Angler"; the first four folio editions of Shakespeare; and the very rare sporting books of Phœbus, Saviolo, Silver, Stephenson, Swetnam, Turberville, and Wylde. Tracts on witchcraft were numerous, and the rare "Americana" were again well represented. Books with early woodcuts were common, and, indeed, most of the items which go to gladden the collector's heart, could be found in this unusual library. The one point for the student to note lies in the fact that the prices are rather high for the market values. As in the record of the first portion, I am indebted for many of the annotations to the compiler of the auctioneers' catalogue. Mr. Lawler has performed his arduous task in excellent fashion, with remarkably few errors either of omission or commission.

3160. Amman (J.). GYNÆCEUM, sive Theatrum Mulierum in quo præcipuarum omnium Nationum, Gentium, Populorumque, etc. (First edition of the Latin text.) 122 woodcuts by Jost Amman. Old calf. Small 4to. Francof., S. Feyerabend, 1586. Baker, £10 10s.

Lit. Goth. Modern brown morocco. Small folio. s. a. et l. ou nom d'Imprimeur [printed abroad by William Caxton, c. 1476?]. Pickering, £600
¶ Of this rare Caxton book, Blades enumerates six copies, of which two only are perfect. This was the Roxburghe copy, afterwards Hanrott's, at whose sale it was purchased by the late Earl of Ashburnham. The total number of leaves wanting is 33. Size, 10½ by 7⅝ in.

3418. Le Fevre (Raoul). THE RECUEIL OF THE HISTORYES OF TROYE (three books). Black letter. (Measures 10⅞ by 7¾ in.) Oaken boards. Modern red morocco. Small folio. No place, date or name of printer [c. 1472-74? by Wm. Caxton]. Pickering, £950
¶ One of sixteen known copies of this rare Caxton Book. The first book printed in English. The Earl of Jersey's was the only perfect copy known. It is printed in the same No. 1 type as the French version. Blades gives it the first place in his work; as it was during the progress of this book through the press that Caxton (as he informs us in the prologue to the Third Book) learned the New Art of Printing. The translation into English was "begun at Bruges, continued in Ghent and finished in Cologne." The number of leaves wanting in this copy is 49. Was purchased by the late owner at the sale of E. V. Utterson's library.

3419. Le Fevre (Raoul). LE RECUEIL DES HISTOIRES DE TROYE LA GRANDE, nouvellement abregé. Woodcuts. Morocco. Fine copy. Small folio. Lyon, Denys de Harsy, 1544. Leighton, £34 10*s.*

3420. Le Fevre (Raoul). A BOKE OF THE HOOLE LYF OF JASON (translated out of the French by Wm. Caxton). Black letter. Contemporary English. Stamped ornamental leather. Small folio. No imprint, Westminster, by W. Caxton [c. 1477]. Pickering, £2,100

¶ A quite perfect copy of this extremely rare Caxton Book, one of the earliest productions of the press at Westminster. Blades mentions seven copies, and refers to this one as the "finest copy known," having rough edges, and measuring 11¼ by 8 in. Blades is, however, in error in mentioning only one original blank, as this copy has two (one at the beginning and one at the end), making in all 150 leaves, or 148 printed leaves, and two blanks. It was formerly Richard Heber's. He speaks of it as being probably the "finest in existence," and says it was bought by Triphook at the sale of John Erskine's library in 1817 for Mr. Watson Taylor at the sum of £162 15*s*. At Watson Taylor's sale it was purchased by Thorpe for Mr. Heber for £95 11*s*., and at Heber's sale for £87 by Payne the bookseller, from whom it was purchased by the late Earl of Ashburnham.

¶ Printed upon vellum, only five or six copies known. This copy has the following interesting history: It was evidently illuminated for one of the Donati family, several of whose members became Doges of Venice. The next oldest possessor appears to have been Louis Foucquet, Bishop of Agde, who presented it to the Presbyters of the Oratory of that Town, as appears from the following inscription on the margins of the first page of text: "ex dono illustrissimi et Reverendissimi D.D. Ludovici Foucquet Episcopi Agathensis Presbyterorum Oratorii Agathensis." It then appears to have passed into the possession of Sir Robert Harley from the following inscription on the orignal vellum flyleaf: "This Book formerly Lord Oxford's was bought by him of Andrew Hay for 160 guineas." It then occurs in the sale (1799) of Dr. Chas. Chauncy's Books (whose portrait is inserted in the cover) where it realized £65. Then it proceeded to Count Macarthy at whose sale it brought 705 francs, thence to Payne and Foss in 1817, priced by them £65 (see price in flyleaf); sold by them to Sir M. M. Sykes for £72 9*s*. and bought by the late Earl of Ashburnham for £90. It also has the ex-libris of the Duke of Sussex. The Sunderland copy sold for £220.
